

For Men Only

A man has only to walk down the street and he can collect names, addresses, phone numbers, and if he desires, physical dimensions of women known or unknown to him.

The women of this age have become very cheap. It is very difficult to tell another man's wife from a harlot. How easy they are to get to know. Everywhere a man goes, they are there. Other than the use of their bodies they have nothing to offer.

The woman provides a man a means of raising himself. The so-called Negro woman must return to femininity. They should not be like prowling animals greedy, grasping, vulgar as they now strive to pattern themselves after white women.

There was a time when you could tell a woman by her clothing. Some cities even branded women who committed adultery or fornication with a red letter A. Now the clothing of prostitutes is fashionable. The morals of the woman has become corrupt, decayed and retarded.

The black woman in America needs only to be herself, stop copying and she becomes the standard of the world.
