N.Y. Governor proclaims 'Black Family Day'

Messenger Muhammad's brothers head long dignitary list

By Joe Walker

NEW YORK — Governor Malcolm Wilson proclaimed last Sept. 15 as "Black Family Day" throughout the entire Empire State marking an official tribute to the influence of the Honorable Elijah Muhammad's teaching on the East Coast and across North America.

GOV. WILSON signed the proclamation in his executive chamber in the state capital of Albany, N.Y. The historic document stated, in part: "Thousands of men, women and children of the Empire State's Black community will gather at Downing Stadium to celebrate the event, the theme of which is 'Respect... Love... Responsibility'.

HONORED GUESTS at the day-long Black Family event included brothers of the Honorable Elijah Muhammad — Ministers John Muhammad and Johnny Muhammad, both who made brief remarks. Min. Wali Muhammad of Columbus, Ohio and other members of the Messenger of Allah's family were also in attendance.

Among the visiting out-of-town Temple of Islam ministers were Min. Byron X who heads Muhammad's Temple on the island of Bermuda (the first outside the U.S.); Min. James Shabazz Jr. of Newark; Min. Michael X of Lansing, Mich.; Min. Louis Omar of Baltimore, Md.; and Min. Donald Shabazz of Grand Rapids, Mich.

United Nations diplomats from Barbados, Guinea-Bissau, Haiti, Kuwait, Jamaica, Jordan, Liberia, Libya, Morocco, Nigeria, Palestine, Panama, Peru, Sudan, Trinidad and Tobago, Turkey, Uganda and Zaïre were present.

Football great and movie star Jim Brown attended Black Family Day and was introduced, as were Rep. Charles Rangel of Harlem, chairman of the Congressional Black Caucus; Manhattan Borough Pres. Percy Sutton; Basil Patterson, vice-chairman of the National Democratic Party; and Dr. Don Shirley, famous pianist and scholar.

BLACK FAMILY DAY, Part II, was a sequel to an earlier overwhelmingly successful Black Family Day Bazaar, which drew 70,000 people to Randall's Island last May 27 to view products of 551 Black businessmen and displays by 14 foreign governments.

Particularly significant about Black Family Day was the large number of Latin families that came out. Incidentally, a Muhammad's Temple of Islam in East Harlem (ELBarrio) is winning increasing numbers of Puerto Ricans and Hispanics to the teachings of the Honorable Elijah Muhammad.

"I came to hear Palmieri, Machito and Ceila Cruz," said Carmen Hernandez, "but I was really moved and motivated by Minister Farrakhan and his message about unity for all Black people — here, in Puerto Rico the West Indies and South America."

'Crucial times!' Farrakhan warns intellectuals

By Joe Walker

NEW YORK — It was a beautiful day with a sunny sky for Black Family Day, Part II, Sept. 15, sponsored by Muhammad's local Temple of Islam, in the afternoon, musicians performed, but also it was a time of sober reflective contemplation and concentration on the survival and future of the Black family.

RECEIVING THE rapt attention of a crowd of more than 30,000, Minister Louis Farrakhan, National Representative of the Honorable Elijah Muhammad, pointed out the wisdom of the Messenger.

"We live at a most crucial time in the history of the world," asserted Min. Farrakhan. "Messenger Elijah Muhammad is teaching us that the world we now know — the world of the white people, the Western world — is now in the throes of death."

THE FALL, or change-over of governments during the last year in the United States, Britain, France, West Germany, Portugal, Greece and Canada was cited by Min. Farrakhan who said that "there has caught up with every colonial and imperialist power in the world."

Also drought and changes in weather in the U.S. have played havoc with the wheat, corn and soybean crops. And to this the U.S. need for oil which today necessitates dealing with the Arabs, something that North Americans dislike because they have in the past "made mockery of the Arabs and their great religion of Islam."

IT HAS BEEN recently reported that the whole Western world and its monetary system is in danger of total collapse and hence Western governments and corporations are seeking Arab investments to prop up their monetary system.

"EVERY LEADER of Black people has a growing responsibility to keep pace with the onward movement of people and their needs." He pointed to Nkrumah in Ghana and Sukarno in Indonesia as "great men who brought people to freedom" but who failed to lead their people out of poverty.

"But I warn you, Black brother — in the Name of Allah and His Messenger," addressing his remarks to the United Nations diplomats present at Black Family Day — "while you sit in the halls of the U.S. while you dance at parties with white women, while you talk of your Rolls Royce and your Mercedes-Benz and your villa by the sea, remember your people at home in the hills and the countryside — poor and ragged, naked and out-of-doors — are looking to you to give them justice, and what white people have deprived them of."

HE URGED intellectuals in the Black community to use their knowledge to help the governments of the Black people of the world "to achieve true liberation for the poor and unprivileged."

Min. Farrakhan labeled the Honorable Elijah Muhammad as "the Father of the Black family," who is the Messenger of Allah to all — not just to the Black man in America, but God's Messenger to the Black man throughout the world.

"In 43 years, the Honorable Elijah Muhammad has taken us from disunited hordes of self and made us lovers of one another. He is clearing up and dignifying the Black man like no man you have ever seen," said Min. Farrakhan.
