

Remake The World Part 2

the Levites, shall be porters of the doors."

I'm only bringing you this to tie it in with the earlier reference I gave you from Genesis to show you that we have clear proof in the Bible for the preacher when you go back to him and tell him what I tell you. He'll say, "Them Muslims don't know what they're talking about. You be a good Christian and don't listen to them. They don't believe in God." You tell him to come to us and tell us that.

It says in the 2nd Chronicles, Chapter 23, Verse 4: "A third part shall be porters at the doors." What is this third part? It is the poor and ignorant people of the religion. They shall serve in the inferior positions because they don't have knowledge to serve in higher positions.

The 2nd Chronicles, Chapter 23, Verse 5 says: "And a third part shall be at the king's house; and a third part at the gate of the foundation."

Let's tie this in with the person and then tie it in with the bigger picture.

THE SECOND AND THE FINAL THIRD

Then there's the second third. The second part identifies the intellectuals, the wise outside of the Church.

These wise outside of the Church are still in the religious order and still in the Christian society. They will be the ones to serve as judges. They will control the knowledge in the land and make judgment. Then you have the final third that will uphold the foundation.

The foundation is the wise in the Church who understand a higher language in Christianity than you understand. They can't let you come into the higher language of the Christian religion because you wouldn't listen to the baby language that they're giving you on Sunday.

So to hold you, they keep the high, adult language for themselves and give you the baby language. They are the ones that keep the foundation of the Church in existence. They keep it established and strong by denying the poor and ignorant people the knowledge that is adult knowledge and by giving you baby knowledge.

THE POPE HAS RULED AMERICA

From the individual we see a design of the basic form of the broad community. An individual has willpower, intelligence, wit, and he has the appetite or the hunger for things. There are people that are slaves to hoggish appetites. The wise in the Church say that they will feed on these people because they won't have sense to manage their wealth. They will get it and turn it right back into the Church's hands. They will never be able to defeat their oppressors because they will be nothing but big animals, and men know how to kill animals.

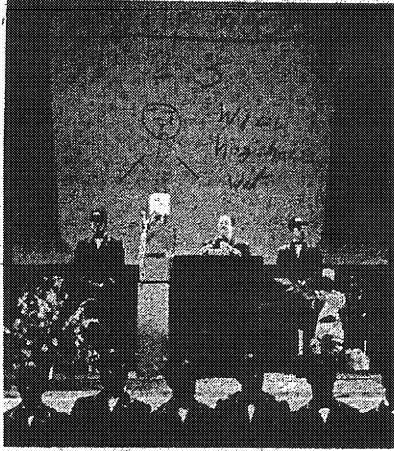

There is another group of Church people that the wise in the Church won't let come into the high knowledge of the religious order, but they will allow them to get a lot of schooling in government. The wise will give them just a little bit of their knowledge and they will serve the wise as their government, but the wise will rule over them all.

If you don't think the Pope and the Bishops rule America, you've got another thought coming. The government can't do anything with the Pope. They can't do anything with the Christian Church collectively because the Christian Church and Catholicism and Protestantism are too strong among the masses. These religious institutions control the masses. If the government wants one thing and the religious leaders want another, the government can't do it over the heads of the religious leaders—not until this day and time.

In the past, they couldn't do it because the government was committed to the religious leaders and in return the religious leaders would give them votes, political backing. But what happened?

THE BRIGHT SUN OF ISLAM IS ON THE SCENE FOR GOOD

The light of True Divine Wisdom came upon the scene and it began feeding the poor (the porters), those that were given the low jobs. It began feeding them with Divine understanding, waking up the ignorant masses (the donkey of the religious world).

It made that donkey speak with man's voice. The government people, over a period of time, recognized that there was another religious voice in the land and that now the Church has some real competition.

They long ago recognized that the Church had grown to be a very weak force over the people. They had been losing the people because they themselves are lost. Now the government is not so quick to obey the Pope. It is not so quick to listen to the voice of the religious leaders in Christianity.

"Shut up those Muslims, don't let them rent your halls. They can't grow if you don't rent them a nice place to have meetings in. They can't grow meeting in little store-fronts and in their homes. Don't let them have the big places."

The government obeyed them for a long time, but now they don't obey them anymore because they realize that that bright sun of Islam is on the scene for good. A few wise ones in the government realize now that the enemy, of not only the masses but the enemy of government, is false Christian religion. They won't admit this to you. They can't afford to.

THERE IS A TRUE MISSION OF RELIGION ON THE SCENE

They know that there is a true mission of religion on the scene. They know that we can bring the masses up out of social death and decay and bring them back into social life and growth and put them back on the road to producing things for their own well-being. The government is no longer strong enough to carry millions of people as dependents and unproductive hang-alongs.

Because it is no longer able and no longer willing to carry the great masses of ignorant people who are unproductive, it is now willing to let the masses go into any safe hands. They used to see the Christian leaders as the only safe hands for the masses; but now they see that the Temple of Islam in America is a safer hand for the masses than was the Christian Church or the Christian leaders of the Church.

WE GIVE YOU DIVINE WISDOM

We don't want you in the Nation of Islam to suck your blood or to empty your pockets and send you out to go back and get some more for us. We want you to empty your pockets so that the money will go into one pocket, whereas by yourself you have one small pocket. If many of us empty our small pockets into one pocket, we will all share in one big pocket.

We don't leave the Muslim Believers in the Temple of Islam poor, ragged, out-of-doors, ignorant, immoral, sick, blind, deaf and dumb.

We turn the wheels of your mind over and give you the fuel that you need to keep those wheels turning over: we give you Divine Wisdom. Then you grow stronger mentally, morally, and spiritually. You become a total person. You're not satisfied to be one-third, you have to have all the three parts in you.

You're not satisfied just to be taken over by holy emotionalism. You like to feel good alright, but a Muslim will not be satisfied with just feeling good in religion. He has to be able to believe and see himself as one not only feeling good, but one thinking good. He has to believe that he is able to reason rightly. He takes pride in that other third: the body of knowledge, the intelligence, the intellectual part of the being. He's not satisfied to remain on any one level no matter how wise he gets in Islam. He still wants to climb up a little higher.

He also has another third that rules over the other two thirds. That's his Divine willpower. He's not satisfied to neglect it either. He fasts during the month of Ramadan so that his willpower will grow stronger. He tests his will with the forces of the flesh. The flesh says, "Give me some food. Give me some water and some juice and some milk. I'm hungry and hurting and I'm thirsty." The willpower says, "No, you can't have it until sundown."

After 30 days in that month of training against the power of the flesh, the willpower comes out strong enough to go for another 11 months without falling victim to the powers of the flesh. We don't deny any of our basic functions that work together in the total being. We cultivate them all.

DUST TO INDUSTRY

What has happened in the world to those original concepts and ideas that we've just described to you in the individual makeup that are also in the social makeup of the world? They have fallen down to terms like Church, government, and industry.

You wouldn't believe that the Trinitarian Doctrine (the three-in-one) had really grown from Genesis from willpower, intellect, and desire to come into the form that we see in the world today: religion, government and industry. The Bible shows us the growth and the development of the religious community from dust to industry. Can we prove this? Yes.

In the beginning, in Genesis, the man begins from dust. In Revelations of the Bible, the man has become a city. I hope a wise preacher reads this who will be able to understand what I'm saying and go back and teach the religion the way it should be taught.

WHO IS THE FATHER OF JESUS?

In the early parts of the New Testament, Jesus is called a body, a person, a manifestation of God in the flesh. This is the religious community. It is a manifestation of Divine Will in material form. The Divine dwells in the people. Jesus said that the kingdom is within you. Jesus said, "I in you and you in me. I in my father and my father in me." He made these all one. This is the community, not one person.

He referred to himself as one in three because he represented that third (the ministry, the religious head).

Who was the father that he was talking about? What produced him? It was the physical world. It produced the physical part of him just as we think of a Creator creating us physically. Father here is the original body of knowledge that exists in the Holy people (the Divine people) that gave birth to Jesus.

"This man is saying that some people of the world taught Jesus?" Yes, I am. The Bible says he was taught as a child. It doesn't say that only God taught him. Jesus went to school. The Great Master Fard Muhammad went to school. The Honorable Master Elijah Muhammad went to school, and I went to school.

You go to school and learn so much, then God blesses you with Divine interpretation and you become master over the school that you went to. So in the Genesis, and in the New Testament also, we have a father manifesting a son which is Jesus. The father is the religious body of
