

Absence of crime among Muslim students is ignored by Islam critics

"YOU MUST TEACH and train your boys and girls in your own schools and colleges," Mr. Muhammad has said. "And keep your little children, especially, your little girls, from mixing with white children. When you do this, then your own people who are the 'original people' of the 'Human Family' will respect you as a Nation."

Critics of Elijah Muhammad's teachings usually remain silent when a yardstick is taken to measure the effectiveness of a Muslim school, as compared to any other school attended by the so-called Negro children. The silence is understood when it is noted that public schools are "blackboard jungles" over-ridden with juvenile delinquents who smoke cigarettes, mirahuana, chew tobacco, drink alcoholics, curse, fight and murder.

These problems are conspicuously missing from the Detroit and Chicago University of Islam—or any other phase of Muhammad's religious movement.

However, the enemies of Muhammad's work purposely omit these startling facts when appraising the Muslim leader's activities. Only a few bold editors have been brave enough to tell the truth about the universities' education and character-building program.

TALKING OVER school curriculum with instructors, Minister Wilfred X reports on new teaching techniques and tools for school.

m holds meeting.

ASSEMBLY of some of school's pupils gather in auditorium for special occasion. Boys and girls sit apart.

LEAD BY MINISTER Wilfred X (third from left), faculty of Detroit University of Islam