Can a white person join the Black Muslims?

That question was answered last Sunday when Muslim's Supreme Minister Wallace D. Muhammad, surrounded by his top ranking ministers including New York's Minister Louis Farrakhan, stated that from now on white people would be welcome as his followers in the World of Islam.

This announcement, which sent shock waves throughout the Black Muslim world, was followed by an announcement, equally shocking to

Figures In Changing Muslim World

Supreme Minister Wallace D. Muhammad of the World Of Islam, left, this week stunned the Muslim world by ordering Minister Louis Farrakhan, right, of Harlem Mosque No. 7 transferred to Chicago.

Black Caucus Rejects White Applicant

Reversing the pattern that had become a part of American history, an exclusive Black club this week denied membership to a white applicant basically because of his race, an action that is expected to be debated and cited throughout the land.

Congressman Fortney H. Stark of California, (Pete to his colleagues and friends) had applied for admission into the Congressional Black Caucus. But this week a letter from Caucus Chairman, Rep. Charles Rangel was to tell him:

"We must therefore respectfully decline
