

Household Hints

Instead of pushing baby's arm through the sleeve of his clothing, insert your own into the end of the sleeve. Grasp his hand and gently pull it through. Do the same with the legs. You will find it much easier to dress him.

Make your baby a bib from a wash cloth. Fold wash cloth lengthwise through center. Cut out the corner made by the fold, to make a circle that will just fit baby's neck. Bind neck edge with bias tape, leaving enough tape at each end for ties.

WHEN IRONING children's school clothes, put a hankie in the pocket and it will save time in the mornings and also prevent your forgetting one.

When ironing pockets in little girls' dresses, if the pockets are fancy, gathered, or smocked type, stuff them with soft tissue paper before ironing and you'll be delighted with the professional results.

FOR HANGING Little Girls Dresses: Just bend down ends of an ordinary wire hanger into two under-hooks. This brings the hanger to little-girl size, and the under-hooks make good hangers for slips, belts or ribbons.

Yellow and dingy clothes may be whitened by adding to the boiling water, enough bluing to make it slightly blue. Boil the clothes as usual.
